I want to fuck a fireman.

I was abused growing up, it took me a long time to be able to truly name it and one thing that drives me insane is if I say something like, “my mother is a bitch” or “my parents are crazy” and people counter w, “no she’s not you guys were tight!” or “all parents are crazy” lol k but not all children are abused nor should that be normalized so stfu. I have PTSD still from it, BPD, depression and anxiety. They’re serious issues which were compounded by the trauma. I also have insomnia lol which is why I’m writing this.

In the bathroom, I saw a white feather
A wish manifested dressed in leather
The sun shone brightly on my face
And I wore red lace just in case

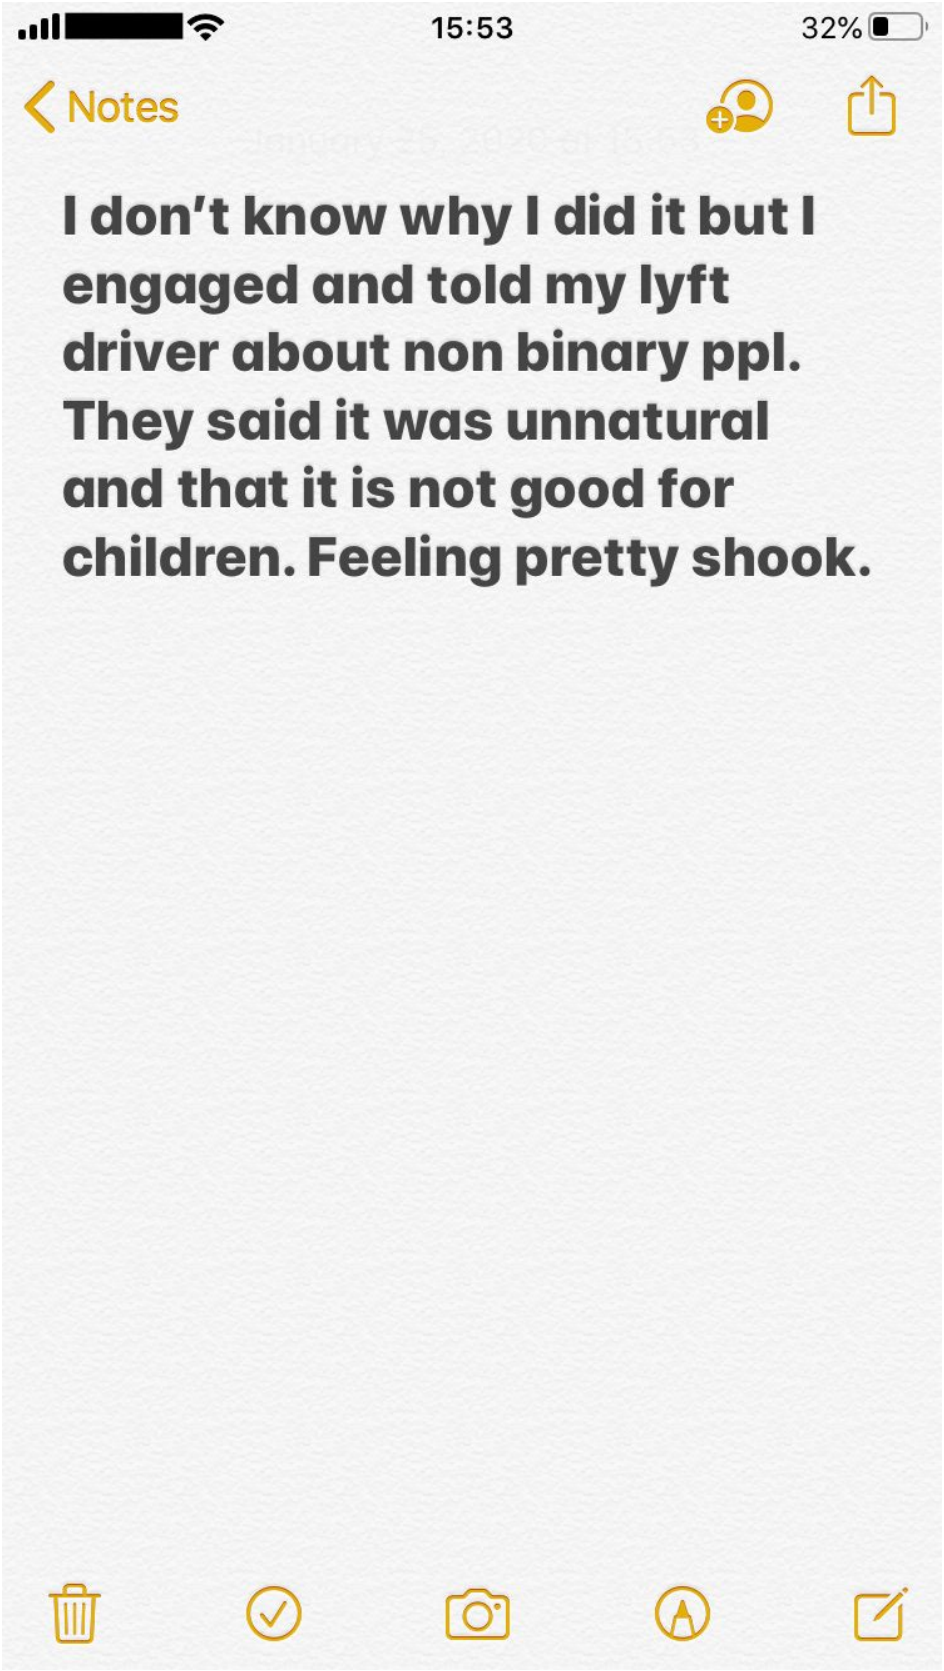

You destroy my ability to write
So many words, not one that seems right
I shut my phone off because I can't stand to see an empty inbox

With my mind, I control the weather
The rain pours down as I think about whether
I crossed your mind at all
But if I did, you would have called

Two rabbits were fucking in the full moonlight
One was black and one was white
But in the end, we watched them get eaten by a fox

Social media norms of logging in, liking posts, and endlessly scrolling while handing over our data to private corporations have grown habitual. IRL issues remain intact RE: the police state, white supremacy, data breaching (privacy) & climate collapse re: the planet...

The archives are located in physical rooms often filled with server racks that are being liquid cooled 24/7, not “on” the world wide web.

IRL IRL is looking for less anxiety inducing or habit forming methods of sharing ideas and communicating amongst ourselves & with 'the public'. Contributions/contributors will be anonymous unless preferred otherwise - images as well as text are welcome. Think of this as your IRL DM/Timeline. All submissions automatically accepted.
